

XENA

You really going to stay away this time?

DINONICUS

(considers)

Does it get any easier?

XENA

Sure it does. And you may even find yourself open to someone who can return your love.

Dinonicus moves away. They see Scilla in the distance sitting on a steep rock face overlooking the sea, alone on her island. Something stirs in the waters below her and Glaucus rises from the waves sun glinting on his scaly hide, tentacles caressing his way up the rock face.

XENA

She won't be alone afterall. Now, that's what I call devotion.

FADE OUT.

THE END